Dear Parishioners,

How quick are we to judge at times? Even silently when we disagree with someone or the way in which someone does something, we can get caught up in judging them. Jesus had a similar experience in this weekends Gospel where the disciples are questioning Jesus about someone who is driving out demons in the name of Jesus but does not walk with them. Jesus says immediately not to worry because God is working in and through them. Like the disciple it is easy to gain a perspective of how things should be done, and to think they need to be done our way. Even though we may have been doing something a certain way we can always learn something new from someone else's perspective.

The same goes for God and our spiritual lives. We all know the saying, "God works in mysterious ways." God also has His own way of looking at a situation. We might be weighed down by many things in our lives and reluctant to change our ways. God desires to our out His Spirit so much so, that He doesn't follow our script. He challenges us to narrow our own viewpoint so that we can see His way of doing things and how He is working in our lives. How has God worked in your life this week? Take an opportunity to thank God for His presence in your life this week and ask Him to broaden your expectations of how He may work in your life today.

God Bless,
Fr Matt Rawson
