Dear Parishioners,

Put yourself in the shoes of the people in the crowd from today's Gospel. After hearing the words; "Blessed are you who are poor, blessed are those who are hungry, and blessed are those who are weeping..." what comes to mind? Immediately our minds go to how we are satisfied by the Lord, and how we rely on Him during our time of need. As we continue to read, we begin to hear a change of tone. "Woe to the rich, woe to those who are filled and not hungry, who to those who laugh..." It's easy to just bypass this and continue reading and say that it doesn't apply to us. But I think it's important to ask ourselves the question, are we truly satisfied right now in our spiritual lives?

Do any of these apply to us at this moment in our own spirituality? Are we poor in spirit? Do we hunger for the Eucharist and for Scripture? Some of these questions should be asked periodically so that we can work on them. Some may not be easy questions especially if they are the ones Jesus warns against. Woe to the rich, woe to those who fill themselves with things not needed... This is not to say that we can't have fun or have hobbies. It's when those things take us away from Christ and lead us into sin that we should be concerned.

Our psalm response reminds us to place our trust in the Lord. Take some time this week and ask yourself some of these questions and place that trust in the Lord. If you struggle with that trust, take an opportunity to pray for the grace of trust in your spiritual life this week.

God Bless,
