Dear Parishioners,

In Mark 5:21-43, we encounter two intertwined stories of healing and faith. These narratives demonstrate the power of Jesus and the significance of faith in receiving God's healing and restoration. The passage begins with Jairus, a synagogue leader, seeking Jesus' help for his dying daughter. Despite being a respected figure in the community, Jairus recognizes Jesus' authority and falls at his feet, pleading for his daughter's life. Jesus, moved by Jairus' faith, agrees to go with him. However, on the way, a woman who had been suffering from a bleeding disorder for twelve years approaches Jesus in the hope of receiving healing. This unnamed woman had spent all her money seeking medical help, but her condition only worsened. In desperation, she touches Jesus' cloak, believing that even the slightest contact would bring her healing. Instantly, she is cured of her ailment. Jesus, aware of the healing power that went out from him, acknowledges the woman's faith and assures her of her complete healing.

This passage highlights several key themes. First, it emphasizes the power of faith in Jesus' healing ministry. Both Jairus and the woman with the bleeding disorder demonstrate unwavering faith in Jesus' ability to bring restoration and new life. Their faith is rewarded with healing, emphasizing the importance of trust and belief in experiencing God's transformative power. Second, this passage challenges societal norms and expectations. Jesus' willingness to interact with a woman suffering from a bleeding disorder, despite the cultural stigma surrounding such conditions, demonstrates his compassion and inclusivity. Additionally, Jesus' interaction with the girl who had died challenges the prevailing belief that death is final and irreversible. Jesus' words and actions affirm his authority over life and death. Lastly, this passage serves as a reminder that Jesus is not only concerned with physical healing but also with the restoration of relationships and communities. By healing the woman and raising the girl from death, Jesus brings about reconciliation and wholeness. His ministry extends beyond individual healing to the restoration of the brokenness in society.

Have a great week,
 Fr. Matt
