Dear friends in Christ,

In the second reading this weekend, St. Paul reminds us of one of the most important, but often overlooked lines in the Apostles Creed. St. Paul writes:

...our citizenship is in heaven, and from it we also await a savior, the Lord Jesus Christ. He will change our lowly body to conform with his glorified body...

In the Creed we say "I believe in the... resurrection of the body, and life everlasting." As I have mentioned in past homilies, we shall have bodies in heaven, albeit they will be resurrected and glorified bodies. Lent is a time for us to be renewed in this hope. We are making our way to the celebration of the victory of Easter and the victory Jesus has made known when He rose from the dead.

When Holy Week comes however, we are also invited to see that Jesus embraced suffering not to free us from suffering in this life, but to give us hope and lead us through death and suffering to the glory of everlasting life. We can truly be made ready for Easter joy if we first contemplate the great battle waged by the devil beginning on Holy Thursday and culminating on Good Friday.

Who will escape suffering and death when Jesus Himself had to endure these evils? Still, we live in hope and in our weakness before these grim realities we can encounter the love of Christ who comes to the aid of all who call on Him in faith. Easter Sunday, and every Sunday is the day of victory. The "Amen" to the words "The Body of Christ" is the proclamation of faith in this victory and an encounter the love that endures all.

Grace be with you,

Rev. Thomas J. Ward
